"For Nothing"

Did you notice how many things a bank does "for nothing." Accommodating, some folks call it, but as a matter of fact the bank is trying to get your confidence. We need it and can afford to exert a little free energy to get it. Every officer and employee of this bank is strictly at your service. We believe we deserve your confidence and wish to merit and keep it. We can do you a lot of good if you will let us and we expect to profit only by your prosperity.

The Monroe City Bank

Billy Sunday's Ten Commandments

I—Thou Shalt Not Gossip.

There are three ways to spread the news—telephone, telegraph and tell a woman. The devil is so afraid of some of you women he wouldn't get within twenty feet of you.

II—Thou Shalt Not Covet

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's cook, nor his automobile, nor his rubber tired carriage, nor private yacht. Many a man would like to have his neighbor's wife. You let her alone.

III—Thou Shalt Not Tango.

I'm against the rotten licentious hell-begotten dance that sends more girls to hell than anything else. I'm in favor of everything the devil is against, and I'm against everything the devil is in favor of.

IV—Thou Shalt Not Be Stingy.

Some would be Christians are so stingy that they would steal flies from a blind spider. There are others so mean that they sing through their noses to save wear and tear on their false teeth.

V—Thou Shalt Not Have Too Many Beaux.

It's hard to fool a real suitor and a man doesn't want to marry a girl that's been pawed over by every young buck in the community. The frizzle-headed girl that sits up in a dark parlor until all hours of the morning with one buck after another is on the way to perdition.

VI—Thou Shalt Not Be Conceited.

A conceited man is like a cheap skate restaurant where every thing is in the window and nothing on the table but hot air. Self-conceit will always be a mill-stone around your neck.

VII—Thou Shalt Not Drink.

The man who says he can drink or let it alone lies. No man ever intended to be a drunkard. Every drunkard started out to be simply a moderate drinker. If you believe you can leave it alone, why don't you?

VIII—Thou Shalt Not Cuss.

One of the things that show the foundation of a man's character to be rotten is to hear him cuss and vomit out oaths. I would not trust a profane man any too far in any transaction.

IX—Thou Shalt not Dodge Thy Debts

Some haven't religion enough to pay their debts. Would that I might have a hook, and for every debt that you left unpaid I might jerk off a piece of clothing. If I did, some of you would be left with only a celluloid collar and a pair of socks.

X—Thou Shalt Not Flirt.

Society takes no note of the flirtation on the street. It waits until the girl has lost her virtue and then slams the door in her face. I wish I could make a girl who flirts see herself as others see her. If you make eyes at a man on the street he will pay you back.

He Wilited

Wilt thou take her for thy "pard" for better or for worse; to have, to hold, to cordly guard, til hauled off in the hearse? Wilt thou let her have her way, consult her many wishes, make the fires up every day and help her with the dishes. Wilt thou give her all the "stuff" her little purse will pack, buy her a monkey, boat and muff, a little seal skin saque? Wilt thou comfort and support her father, mother, Aunt Jemima, Uncle John, 13 sisters and a brother? And his face grew pale and blank, it was too late to jilt; although the chapel floor he sank he sadly said "I wilt." Ex.

Notin in It.

How often have you picked up a paper and after glancing at it thrown it aside with the remark, "nothin in the paper this week." Did you ever stop to think what that phrase means? It means that in the past week no misfortune has befallen any one in your community; that no fire has wiped out a neighbor's worldly goods; that the Grim Angel of Death has crossed no threshold of a friend; that no man driven by liquor, hatred or fear has taken the life of a fellow human, that no poor devil, haunted by the past misdeed of some other has passed the great divide by his own hands.

So the next time you pick up a paper that doesn't announce a tragedy, give a little thanks instead of grumbling because there's no news. Or, if you would rather shall we dish you up a choice bit of scandal?

Would your eyes go round and you smack your lips with a relish if we were to write up a sensation? Well we can do it. Shall we begin on you? Do you think that you've got that little secret all locked up away from everybody? Well if you look over the stories in the editor's little book, you will be surprised in all probabilities to see your name written there, and further, a story in detail, which you fondly thought was all your own. Nothing in the paper? Do you long to see a procession of skeletons marching past your door? Do you court such a possession? We all have failings and none are immune.—Ex

A lady selecting a hat at a milliner's asked cautiously: "Is there anything about these feathers that might bring me into trouble with the Bird Protection Society?"

"Oh, no, madam," said the milliner.

"But did they not belong to some bird?" persisted the lady.

"Well, madam," returned the milliner pleasantly, "these feathers are the feathers of a howl; and the howl, you know, madam, seein' as 'ow fond 'e is of mice is more of a cat than a bird."

MRS. SLACK'S LETTER

To Mothers of Delicate Children

Palmyra, Pa.—"My little girl had a chronic cough and was so thin you could count her ribs and she had no appetite. Nothing we gave her seemed to help her, until one day Mrs. Nebert asked me to try Vinol, and now she is hungry all the time, her cough is gone, she is stouter and has a more healthy color. I wish every mother who has a delicate child would try Vinol."—Mrs. ALFRED SLACK. We guarantee Vinol, our delicious cod liver oil tonic, to make delicate children healthy and strong.
